

I'm against this. The government should not dictate standards for digital devices. This violates fair use.